CUNARD

INSIGHTS

- 12.15pm Jennifer Rivers Cole - Earth Science – Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B
A Love Letter to The Northern Lights and to the Oldest Rocks in the World
This interdisciplinary talk is given in two parts. We begin with the Northern Lights, including the science, history, symbolism, lore, and what they sound like. We then move to the oldest rocks in the world. This igneous rock is called amphibolite, which issued forth from ancient volcanoes. How has it remained unchanged in this locale, and what does it tell us about Earth?
- 1.15pm Joseph Frey - History – Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B
'Of Terror and Hell': The Franklin Mass Disaster and the Discovery of HMS Erebus and HMS Terror
The greatest mystery in all of exploration history is the fate of the Sir John Franklin's 1845 British Arctic Expedition. Eventually resorting to cannibalism, all 129 crewmen perished, with the expedition's ships HMS Erebus and HMS Terror seemingly vanishing without trace. While answering some questions, recent archaeological discoveries bring us no closer to understanding the expedition's final days.
- 2.15pm Mike Reiss - Screenwriter – Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B
The Nasty World of Children's Books
It's a business more cutthroat than showbiz! Celebrity ghost-writing, credit-stealing, and getting banned by Texas!

Royal Shakespeare Company Matinee: Miss Littlewood

Anti-establishment, visionary, rude and glorious, Joan Littlewood fired the imagination of a generation. Based on her life story, Sam Kenyon's musical charts the emotional highs and lows of Joan's journey from the East End to the West End. Joan Littlewood was the anarchic revolutionary of 20th century theatre. Her unique Theatre Workshop was responsible for a raft of successes including Oh, What A Lovely War!, and breathed new life into the Theatre Royal Stratford East. Told with her own uncompromising honesty, this musical reveals a mighty love story at its heart. The original production of Miss Littlewood played in the Swan Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon in the summer of 2018. This production has been reimagined by Owen Horsley for Queen Mary 2.
